AURA 7000

Including a "clam shell, drop-and-use" design that the point-of-sale industry has grown accustomed to this quiet high-speed and high-resolution with auto-cut thermal receipt printer is lightweight, compact and optimized to deliver the best possible combination of image quality and speed. It supports multiple interfaces, bar-code printing, international character sets and other optional languages, as well as selectable dot fonts. The AURA also supports extended print modes, such as multiple width/height, reverse and line/page printing. With 2MB of flash memory, the built-in character registration allows users to store or download special character patterns or graphic logos. An anti-static enclosures added reliability.
